Hey Don,

I just went over to the construction site right now, and there were no homeless in there again. There was a construction worker on the property. I asked him if he's been having any problem with homeless people being inside of there lately, and he said he has had no issues. It sounds like a mix up between the neighbors and this construction site. When I went over there yesterday the gate was unsecured and there was no lock on the gate. Today they put a new big lock on the gate and no Trespassing signs so hopefully that will help to keep anyone out not supposed to be in there. I am also about to go make contact with Jim Cutler that lives at 700 Curson.

I believe that Inga has a Trespass Order on file. So we could arrest. Is it worth it? It would make the neighbors very happy. Can we set up the arrest as part of another detail? Could you arsonists be in here?

Jim Cutler is an elderly neighbor at 700 Curson. Riley, knock on his door and say hello. Let's build neighborhood relationships too.

Hi Don

Received you email thread. Thanks for the quick follow up. We really appreciate it.

The contractor erected a new fence that secured about 80% of the property but the remaining 20 is still unsecured. As a matter of fact that contractor asked one of homeless to leave the property last week and according to the contractor the homeless person said he enjoyed the property and didn't want to leave.

The homeless were back again last night (somehow they climbed over the new fence). They come late at night and leave very early in the morning. It's very frustrating that this seems to be an ongoing problem.

Thanks for all your help with this. As I mentioned if you need any help with the BID let me know.

Regards

Jim Cutler

Please do. I do not know who the owner is. It seems like he is maintaining an on-going neighborhood nuisance. His lot is NOT secure. There are allegedly 3 homeless living inside the construction fence, which is not secure. The neighbors are complaining.

Hello Donald:

Have you gotten in touch with the owner? Me and Inga can attempt to do so.

At our recent Neighborhood Mixer, we received a neighbor's complaint that a homeless encampment affecting the BID area has been established in the vacant lot located at 740 N. Curson. I'd like to ask our BID resources to attempt to investigate and re-mediate. It may be that this construction site is not properly secured, which may make it a Neighborhood Prosecutor issue. Let me know what you find. Thank you.
